2. Students (and their welfare)

- General characteristics

  Being a small school means students are a part of a safe, secure and familiar environment. The extended family situation is evident. Rapport between staff, students, parents and the wider community is a strong and productive partnership.

  Students as with parents are highly involved in the decision making of the school. Penong School’s Behaviour Management Policy follows the Department’s Policy for schools. Staff, students, parents and the community have been involved in the setting of a behaviour code and the expectation that this will be followed is clear. Regular review of this policy ensures a safe and happy environment.

  The underlying expectation is that all people will display respect for each other and exhibit appropriate behaviour in our school setting. Students play an extremely active and important role in our total school structure, small school education enables students many opportunities for the development of leadership skills.

  Children in our school are supported by Early Intervention action plans and a structured support program through SSO classroom time.

3. Key School Policies

- Contextual Influences

  The major influences which have an impact of our schools culture and programmes include:

  - Isolation
  - Size
  - Aboriginal Students
  - Sustainability
Isolation

Penong and Coorabie Schools are two small sites situated 78 and 167kms west of Ceduna on the Eyre Highway and supported by farming families, local services, community members, local surfing community, and an aboriginal homelands community.

Large centres eg. Port Lincoln, Whyalla and Port Augusta are 5 or 6 hour trips by road. This geographical isolation limits our access to support agencies, specialist centres, cultural programmes, sporting opportunities and availability of access to the arts.

Our two sites are unique in their geographical and social isolation, and also our annexing arrangement. (There are currently no students at Coorabie School and no staff attached to that school.)

Size

The uniqueness of small schools is enhanced by its multi year level and extended family flavour. Classes are R-7, R-3 & 4-7 in structure at various times during the school week.

Class sizes although not large in relation to our city counterparts are still complex due to the wide cross section of the student’s ages, capabilities and maturity.

Aboriginal Students

A large influx of aboriginal students (historically poor attenders) has meant new teaching methodologies, increased support and highly refined behaviour expectations have been necessary. This has meant a restructuring of previous classroom arrangements.

Vision

Penong and Coorabie Schools are characterised by:

- Acceptance, understanding, respect and the valuing of each individual’s personal identity
- Ensuring well being by creating a safe, secure, consistent, positive, success orientated environment
